Providence, Nov. 4.—A powerful, fast Princeton squad overwhelmed Brown in a 33 to 0 victory here this afternoon. After the first period Brown was completely outclassed. In fairness to the Bear, four mistakes cost them as many touchdowns. Fumbles by Capt. Joe Buonanno and Bill Karpas paved the way for two Princeton touchdowns while Don Emory, Brown's center, contributed two bad passes which resulted in two touchdowns.

FIRST PERIOD
Brown won the toss and Nelson kicked back to the 30-yard line. The Brown running attack failed to advance and Walker pointed to Chick Kaufman who returned to his own 17 where he was brought down by Brown. Kaufman went through to

New Haven, Nov. 4. (INS)—The Yale jinx which has operated through the long history of gridiron battles with Dartmouth worked again today to give the Blue a 14 to 13 victory over the Green.

Dartmouth made most of the yardage both along the ground and through the air, but Yale made most of the points and they still pay off on point.

That's why 25,000 faithful Yale roses played a victory parade when to most of them it appeared certain that Dartmouth would crash through and win.

Five times Dartmouth failed in the first minute of play and lost matches down the field and the big Green team had the ball on Yale's 20-yard line as the first whistle blew.

The game was a thriller from the first few moments when the Dartmouth offense came at a to the 20-yard line—put the Green in a hole until Yale fumbled on the 10-yard line with only seconds left to play.

FIRST PERIOD
Curtis' kick which went out of bounds on Dartmouth's six-inch line put the Green in a hole soon after the start. Dartmouth kicked from their own goal to their 37-yard line. Leander smashed through center and left tackle and Whitehead started the end. Yale ripped off three first down to put the ball on the one-yard line where Whitehead shot over for the touch.

Shortly after the second period started, Ed Kelley passed 22 yards to Pat Avery who scored standing up.

FIRST PERIOD
Boston won the toss and received Freitas ran the ball back to his own 25-yard line. On the first play, Coit, Manning got seven. Dugan ran a first down in midfield. Georgetown's first down was by Saverio in the 17-yard line. Georgetown made three first down in succession, bringing the ball to the 30-yard line.

Harvard Stadium, Nov. 4.—Harvard cannonaded to a 27 to 0 conquest of Lehigh here this afternoon in a football game which gave the Crimson second and third string gridders most of the stellar roles.

Lehigh's slight weight edge was of no avail with the team failing to threaten Harvard during the engagement. A half dozen crowd of 15,000 fans were scattered along the sides of the stadium for the clash.

The brilliant sun failed to temper the arctic blasts and the fans shivered while Harvard rolled to a three touchdown edge in the first half and added one score in the second half.

Harvard won the toss and elected to receive. Savelly kicked to Heale, who ran it back to his 24-yard line. Harvard penalized 5 yards for offense. Locke made 5 yards. Dean pointed outside at mid-field. Dean intercepted Shurt's pass on Harvard's 37-yard line.

The chance presence of Patrolman Charles Walker, fastest runner in the police department, frustrated the youth's plan to escape. Walker capturing him after he had gone but a block.

McKenna was seized by Simon Schuff, a druggist at 434 Blue Hill ave., Dorchester, after he is alleged to have opened a cash drawer and extracted two dollars. McKenna will be sent to the Psychopathic Hospital.

TODAY'S MONEY NEWS.
The dollar falls down again. It might be called a bumpily dumpy dollar. New York's Chamber of Commerce wants to go sock to the gold standard, and a dreadfully afraid of the big inflation. Your Uncle Sam, "buying gold quietly" through the R. F. C., out the price up yesterday to 32.57 an ounce.

What a bargain the United States could have had instead of going off the gold basis and then buying gold with punctured dollars. It had contracted for all the gold it wanted, for regular dollars, and had then gone off the gold basis with the gold bars stored away in Washington. That is what "best mind" might have done, but it would hardly be worthy of a United States President.

Jimmy Wedell of Louisiana flew from Washington to New York yesterday in 20 minutes, and will try to do it in 40 minutes. His average speed, 200 miles an hour, would cross the continent in less than 12 hours.

To realize what that means in the way of improvement, remember that our ancestors, holding presidential elections early in November, postponed the inauguration until the following March, that members of the Electoral College and the elected might have time to travel from their homes to Washington.

With flying established, inauguration day could easily be changed from March 4 to Nov. 4.

STATE GOVERNMENTS FIGHT THE PRICE-FIXING CODE

APPEAL REQUEST TO ROOSEVELT FOR ACTION

Wallace Warned That Strike May Lead to Calamity

BULLETIN
Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt today urged the governors and the farmers of the Middle West of "every means of effort to bring about an increase in prices without raising the cost of the individual farmer."

The President and Secretary Wallace were disclosed to have turned down the proposal of the governors to license all handlers and processors of agricultural products.

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—A new appeal to President Roosevelt to order price fixing for farm products was to be made today by five governors from states where the farm strike is continuing.

While the President is sympathetic toward the aims of the farm state governors, their hope of persuading the administration to adopt their plan has been shattered. The governors, after a day and a half of conferences, endorsed objections raised by administration spokesmen to continue the rejection of their immediate price-fixing plan.

WARMS OF 'CALAMITY'

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, however, preferred to say that the agricultural community was in sympathy with the objective of the governors and stood willing to consider the plan further in detail.

The governors warning that the farm strike movement may become a calamity, Wallace and other officials were confident of the success of the present plan.

A speeding up of the loan policy, particularly on corn, possible change of the crop loan price and other means of raising prices were being considered by the farm relief administration.

LICENSING PROPOSED

The five governors—Olsen of Minnesota, Langer of North Dakota, Berry of South Dakota, Herzing of Iowa and Delaney of Wisconsin—urged the five states to consider the plan in final form, before Wallace, George N. Peck, administrator of the AAA, and his staff.

They proposed licensing of buyers of wheat, corn, hay, beans, soybeans and milk, allocation of quotas to individual farmers, and fixing of prices.

Farm Strike Ready For 'High Gear' Order

Des Moines, Nov. 4 (AP)—Milo Reno, leader of the National Farmers holiday association farm strike, today warned that state leaders of his organization to be prepared to "throw the strike into full gear" should President Roosevelt reject the holiday demands for cost of production prices on farm products.

"If the news correctly stated the situation at Washington," Reno said, "the governors have been fully turned down by Secretary Wallace. This comes as no surprise. Secretary Wallace has been opposed to the farmers' plan since the beginning."

"His plan to make the farmers deleterious and mendacious, depending upon government for their subsistence has always been a hope of the group he has trained with."

"The strike will be carried on with every ounce of our power. We had faith that the governors would be able to arouse the president to the danger of the Wallace program."

"The responsibility for whatever happens will rest squarely on the administration and Secretary Wallace in particular."

Keep Roads Open, Governor Orders

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4 (AP)—Keep the highways open as all roads were the order of the day for Wisconsin peace officers as the farm strike dragged on.

The order was issued from Washington by Governor A. G. Schmiedeknecht after his secretary, Theodore G. Lewis, had advised him that it was evident the strike was continuing and that violence would result.

NRA ACT Week-Long Layoffs Are Explained by Company Head

Detroit, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. today was represented as believing it is in no way violating the provisions of the National Recovery Act in its announced plan of laying off workmen seven days to come within the 35-hour week provisions of the NRA automobile code.

Beyond the assertion last night that it was compelled to take the action because of a "new prohibition against work in this country," further official comment on the plan was declined today.

The Ford announcement recalled the company's assertion many weeks ago that "to live up to the code we would have to live down to it." Officials at that time indicated they believed the company maintained a better wage and hour schedule than that provided by the NRA code, which Henry Ford has not signed.

The statement of NRA officials in Washington that they planned to seek enforcement for Ford was now, figures in Detroit indicated, whether workmen had been employed at a higher average than 35 hours without a production rush had been believed by Ford.

The company, it was indicated, that its 40-hour schedule would not have been adopted had it not been justified in production, and that although automobile manufacture has worked for many months at a "smooth rate," the seasonal ebb and flow of the factories, Ford has not yet been able to maintain a steady level throughout the year in the automobile industry.

Under the announced plan, 8000 men will be laid off for a seven-day period which officials indicated would start next week, while follow-up groups of a like number will follow in succeeding weeks.

The Ford Company, following its failure to sign the code, made it plain that although it professed to be in every respect, it is opposed to the NRA in principle.

Hourly schedules and wages paid by the Ford Company will be forwarded to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce by Nov. 8. Other automobile companies are expected to file their schedules in a few days today, said they were unable to give out the figures in advance of filing.

Roosevelt Takes New Grip on NRA: Will Keep It Running

Washington, Nov. 4.—With NRA forced into a stop Monday by Henry Ford's decision to adopt seven-day lay-offs "made mandatory by the Recovery Act," business organizations proposing a permanent body to supplant NRA; and the American Federation of Labor opposing any such action, President Roosevelt today said the NRA will keep running right along on the basis of its original plan, until business can run itself—and this may be years.

Ford's decision brought the NRA again into conflict with the NRA. While NRA officials were not prepared to say his action violated the letter of the law, they said they considered it a violation of the spirit of the law, and they thought it was up to Ford to explain why this step was taken. They pointed out that Ford's competitors in the automobile industry had not found it necessary to take such action.

"Let Mr. Ford explain it," summarized the NRA's attitude. The President, it is understood, will continue NRA's present operation position over business for some time to come, plans for new self-regulation notwithstanding.

At the same time, the President is expected to continue to see the numerous plans for ultimate regulation of the nation's industrial and business set-up by business and industry itself. He has studied the General Survey for self-regulation and business control, and he has been studying the development of many other such proposals.

For this present, however, Mr. Roosevelt feels that the place for NRA authority is with the Federal government. When business has advanced under that supervision to a point where the present feel it is capable of running itself, the executive made it clear that he would be only too glad to entrust that job to it.

EVERETT BALANCE DODDY In line with the president's thought that all plans shall be that suggested by those who have gone over the consumer's advisory board, the committee will study the latter. This committee will have a guide as a result of the survey, which the advisory board set up as basic necessary requirements for the industrial control. These were:

1.—The government should at all times be in an authoritative position to impose checks and balances so that none of the three forces in industry—management and ownership—will dominate.

2.—The government should at all times be in an authoritative position to impose checks and balances so that none of the three forces in industry—management and ownership—will dominate.

State Police Again on Guard After Vol- ley of Shots Snyder Pledges Quick Solution to Price Dodging

Springfield, Nov. 4.—Open violence, starting up at West Springfield, and climaxed by a volley of shots fired by three men in an auto at an ungarded truck, this afternoon marked the renewal of activity in the strike of 500 motor truck drivers in Western Massachusetts.

The gunfire occurred as the auto, containing the men, sped past the moving truck, bound for Albany, N. Y. The shots were apparently aimed at the tires of the truck, in an effort to ditch it.

The renewed violence, on the heels of Gov. Ely's plea yesterday to the strikers to return to work, and following a decision by the Motor Truck Owners Association of Western Massachusetts to abandon the "gunny system" of moving lines of trucks along the highways under heavy guard of state police.

Following the outbreaks today, however, it was decided to resume use of convoys, with state troopers as guards.

At the same time, several other trucks, bound for Albany, N. Y., were stoned, causing injuries to several drivers.

Jobless Man Killed on First Day of Work
Maxwell, 64, jobless, found work on an unemployment relief highway project. He hoped on the turning board of a light truck. On a slippery highway the truck slipped another. Maxwell, ground between them, died.

Such a case, Adams warns, would end cooperative relations by which the Boston Police and the First National Bank have sold both milk to metropolitan consumers at a lower price than the NRA code now imposes.

'OUTLAWS' CALL COAL STRIKE

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 4 (AP)—Threatening a mid-winter coal shortage for the Eastern seaboard, disgruntled anthracite miners today voted a general strike for District No. 1, comprising the northern anthracite region of Pennsylvania. The district produces about one-third of the nation's anthracite supply.

The strike call is effective Monday morning.

An unanimous vote in favor of the strike call followed repeated and futile attempts to bring Federal intervention.

The strike call was taken to force recognition of the newly created United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, a union organized in defiance of the United Mine Workers of America. The strikers also demand adjustment of a long list of grievances, including the charge that the coal companies are selling coal at a profit.

Monongahela J. Curran fought single-handedly to obtain Federal intervention and to avert the walk-out.

The walk-out ended after former strikers had voted at Madison to go on with their activities.

John Chalmers, president of the Iowa Farmers Holiday Association, said it was a mercy prize that all that Mr. Wallace had to offer he proposed to give to members to "strike with every ounce of their command, Monday morning."

"When I said 'weapon,' he added, 'draw your own definition.'"

A 15-mile chase by Metropolitan Police and British police today ended in the arrest of Lawrence L. Lermont, of 688 Southview street, Quincy, on charges of failing to stop for an officer, speeding, operating so as to endanger life and having no license.

Lermont, however, was not apprehended until his motorcycle crashed into a tree in Pearl at Braintree, as he was trying to turn a sharp corner. He was stunned by the crash, but not seriously injured.

Two Metropolitan policemen first discovered Lermont in Wollaton road. They said he was going 80 miles an hour. When he failed to stop, they chased him through Newmarket, up Galloway road, and Granite ave., back to Milton, down Franklin st., and into South Braintree.

U. S. GOV. RISES FOREIGN CROPS

Washington, Nov. 4 (AP)—The world price of gold was lower today, but the RPO quotation for 100-ounce metal here went on to a new high, while dispatches from abroad indicated the day saw no purchases in bullion markets there for the American government.

The London gold figure fell overnight from the equivalent of $32.26 an ounce to $32.02, but following the policy of constantly increasing the domestic figure, administrative officials raised it to $32.17 yesterday to $32.07 today.

London dispatches said the only gold transaction recorded there was minor.

Whatever the administration is doing through its agents in foreign markets, it is saying nothing about it, and shielding the operations from speculators who might take advantage of such information.

U. S. GIRL'S LOVE FOR GUIDE BARED BY GERMAN MURDER

LETTER FOUND AFTER ARABS SHOOT BOTH

Mystery of Dancer and Indian Baffles the Holy Land Police

Jerusalem, Nov. 4 (AP)—Romance behind the tragedy of an American girl's death near the Garden of Gethsemane was revealed today in an unmailed letter found in her effects which indicated she had formed an attachment for an Indian with whom she was walking when Arabs fired and killed them both. The American consulate took charge of the case.

She was identified as Carol Von Niedergaass also known as Carol Godfrey. Her passport said that in case of need Bert Godfrey, of 28 20th st., Brooklyn, be notified. Her body and that of a man tentatively identified as Mohamed Karaman, an Indian civil servant of Madras, were found yesterday. She apparently had died from head injuries and the man had been shot.

ROBBERY DISCOUNTED

Authorities believed robbery was not the motive for the slaying since money was found on the man's body. He was en route to Madras to resume his duties.

The couple encountered Arabs outside the walls of the old city during disturbances attending Arab riots in protest against an increasing Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Each body had three bullet wounds inflicted from close range. The woman's body was not molested and was found 20 yards from that of her companion.

Police were completely baffled as to a motive for the crime.

Doctors said each had been dead about 48 hours when their bodies were found.

Family Discounts Girl's Romance With Indian

New York, Nov. 4 (AP)—Romance between Carol Godfrey, known as Joan Winter, American dancer, and an Indian civil servant with whom she was walking when she was shot to death in Jerusalem yesterday, was described as a "remote and absurd possibility" today by the girl's family.

An unmailed letter found in her effects indicated, reports said, she had formed an attachment for the Indian.

John Taff, her uncle, said the parents had received no information from their daughter that she had become interested in any man during her travels.

He said the most tenable theory was that his niece met the man in southern Europe and had hired him to act as her guide in the Holy Land. The two had merely happened to be together, he said, when they were shot by the assailants.

Taff said the girl's father, Bert Godfrey, was on a business trip in the southwest.

The family has asked the U. S. State Department for get additional information.

Mrs. Godfrey said she had received a letter from her daughter about two months ago, posted from Constantinople. In it the girl asked that her parents forward some money to home. She also enclosed a poem, reading:

And I reached out my hand
And life took it into his
And we understood each other.

Atty. David Israel's much-debated letter of authority, purporting to empower him to assume full control of all business and assets of murdered Adolph Sommer's million-dollar Vico plant, was turned over by Israel today to Diet. Atty. Warren L. Bishop for scrutiny.

Bishop said he would send the document to Albert Osborne, New York handwriting expert, for verification of Sommer's signature.

Challenge of the letter featured opening court battles in the fight of Mrs. Emmeline Sommer against transfer of her slain husband's property to Israel's control and trusteeship.

A formal deed of trust, putting Israel in charge, already has been drafted and allegedly signed less than a week before Sommer's death, had been in Israel's personal possession until he gave it in the district attorney today at a conference at the latter's office.

Poison Pen Notes Accuse 20 South Shore Husbands

A self-styled "grass widow," and details of her alleged philanderings with well-to-do Braintree and Weymouth husbands, furnished interesting but disquieting reading for more than 20 socially prominent South Shore wives, yesterday.

Anonymous letters, all containing purported tips of the keyhole type, were in the hands of women in leading families of the two towns.

Angry, outraged, or fearful, as the case might be, recipients of the "poison pen" epistles were planning, they said, to call police into the case.

Charges continued in the mysterious letters centered, in several instances, around gay parties described in the "grass widow's" home with guests departing by back and side doors at hours ranging from 2:30 to 5 a. m.

Other charges, and in some instances threats, had to do with affairs of an exclusive women's social organization, recipients of the notes declared.

In Rockport Slaying

Mrs. Johnson

By JAMES J. SMITH
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Rockport, Nov. 4—Police probing the mystery murder of Mrs. Augustus Johnson revealed today they are convinced the crime was committed by a left-handed man and are searching for a near-tall, a stranger by trade and left-handed, who has been placed here the night of the killing.

This man assumed the role of intruder suspect while the authorities awaited an expert's report on fingerprints taken of all local men for comparison with prints found on a bottle and a window sill in the slaying home.

Re-examination of the window through which the slayer entered the house to kill the widow and smash and smash, by moon using his left hand, the police said, ENH CITTERS HANDED

The hole in the pane was on that side, and it would have been extremely awkward for a man to put his right hand through the hole to turn the catch.

That the window was broken with a stonecutter's facing hammer, and the slayer-out widow slain with the same implement, had been previously established beyond much doubt.

The authorities have taken prints of her right hand, in death. Her left hand was destroyed by fire.

In addition to the prints on the bottle the authorities have bloody prints found on the window sill. This checking of fingerprints is taking place at the State House.

Until midnight a score of Rockport men, some of them suspects, paraded in and out of the Town Hall office where Diet Atty. Hugh C. Cragg is conducting the investigation.

Police print experts were there working under the direction of Sergt. J. Warren Toelken of the State police.

In the meantime members of the Swedish Congregational Church sat in their homes waiting for the news they feared—that a fellow-workshop had been detected as the felonious slayer of the 52-year-old widow.

Even the pastor of the church, Rev. Albert Johanson, admitted in a talk with newspaper men that

FITTONS FACE PORTLAND 11

The Fittons eleven of East Boston will journey to Portland, Me., tomorrow afternoon, where they will clash with the Sagamore of that city in the Portland Stadium. The Sagamores, with a record of having scored 153 points against their opponents 12 so far this season, is composed of former college stars, headed by Fred "Play" Ellis of Tufts fame, and Tony Siano, former Fordham and Redskin star.
A 13-year-old girl owns him, she discovered his speed, she pleaded with her mother to give him a chance on the racetracks instead of merely to be used to chase foxes, and today they speak of him in the same tone they do of Equinox and other great ones. Chase Me is a 4-year-old son of Purchase.
As a two-year-old, the John Bosley, Jr., family tried to fit him for the track. But the gelding had made up his mind against it. His unruly disposition when attempts were made to train him, or to get him to run on a track, earned him a bad name. He did everything but kick grandstands apart to indicate his dislike for the sport of kings.
So the Bosleys, who belong to the social set, abandoned the idea of campaigning him, and Mrs. Bosley, a noted rider, made a saddle horse of him.
Chase Me, a wicked brute when handled by regular trainers, was a double pet with Mrs. Bosley and was the gentlest creature in the world with the Bosley children. Siano, now 13, who is its real owner, had, her 11-year-old brother, and Betty, 6.
Chase Me was used in hunts and quickly became a ribbon winner and a champion. This gelding which

Chase Me Finally Has Horses Chasing Him

New York, Nov. 4—Chase Me is a horse which is getting his name and picture into the papers these days with frequency equal to that of Winoska and other stars—and without his owners making a single ballyhoo gesture.
A wonder through the fields, he was permitted to ride his own horse. He distanced everything in all the hunts in which she competed, and the girl continued to plead with her mother to try to put him in training once more.
Mrs. Bosley agreed, but this time she decided to train the gelding herself—assisted by Sara and little Jack. E. Young, a Bosley family groom, was registered as trainer, but that was an honorary title for him.
He just took care of the horse and Mrs. Bosley and the children told Chase Me it was time he quit fooling around wasting his talents and do some running on a race track.
He responded to their handling, did everything they asked, and when he had rounded to form, he was shipped to Havre De Grace in October.
Mrs. Bosley had no real idea up to then as to how fast he could travel. So one morning Sara climbed aboard her pet, caught the "20" signal from her mother and told Chase Me to see what he could do for himself over the three furlong route. Chase Me was timed in 23 seconds by Mrs. Bosley.
A short time later he was entered with some $1500 maidens. Anyone who wanted to claim him for $1000 could have done so, because those were the conditions of the race. But everybody knew Chase Me as a bad actor, nobody claimed, and Chase Me won by 10 lengths.
Mrs. Bosley, in whose name the horse is registered because of the age of Sara, then shot him against better runners. Chase Me won. The third time out he met even tougher foemen—and won with ease. He ran his fourth race, Friday, against the speediest animals now in training, was handily out by a bad start, but went on to win going away in close in track record time.

TODAY'S QUESTION

If North makes an insult to the South, will the South retaliate? If the South is patient in its attitude toward the North, will the North be patient in its attitude toward the South?

Answer: The fact that a picture is taken of a person does not affect the person's rights. The fact that a person is captured does not affect the person's rights. AT LAST! THE SELF-DRAINING SUPER-CRITICAL RADIO

For months and months, radio engineers have been secretly perfecting a highly selective radio set which will revolutionize reception. We feel highly honored that this department was asked to make the announcement to a long suffering public. This Self-Draining Super-Critical set employs the latest Sub-Dehydrating process, by which all irritating and noxious elements from your air entertainment. This remarkable discovery makes it possible for the listener to sit back with a good book while the savor, savor, savor and stock market quotations are drained off into concealed receptacles. The program can then be poured in the kitchen sink or else preserved with a pinch of benzoate of soda.

"Trouble with the people of this country," growls Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "is that they always want something new but will never stand for anything different."

Adam Scottlaw's Journal

This day in the howling gale, for the Hawks Tournament and I might be proud, with my hat waving prettily, and I with father in hat, and it please me to see how much I walk, following the birds, and from the spring in my steps I would judge, afterward, that I am but half my age, and when my dove against my fast fling I was of a mind to turn back, spring, but thought better of it, as I have a pain in my right side.

Now we're getting somewhere. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 3. Mr. West has received the full approval of the Central Association of Obstetricians.

And maybe Utopia will be achieved when all the people learn to be self-sufficient and all nations learn to be self-consuming.

As well as we remember that tradition was upset by those young day dancers and as follows in the ring.

Adam Scottlaw's Journal

This night, with the aid of my Lightning Repeating Machine and Pocket Calculator, I find that by smoking six cigars a day at five cents each, instead of three cigars a day at five cents each, I am seventy years of age. I will, at the age of seventy, still be young and healthy, which I do now, and by smoking three cigars a day at five cents each.

What puzzles is it that nobody thought of this plan before. It's certainly worth up the unemployment before you could say "General Johnson."
